I, Brandon Michael Jeanpierre as/is Brandon Michael Jeanpierre Corporation d/b/a The Black Flag, in my immutable and inseparable capacity as the Chair of the Board of Directors AKA "Shadow Sovereign" and being the titular and definitive of the entity and faith thereof, do hereby attest lawfully and truthfully to the literal intention and interpretation of the religious organization's purpose statement and mission inference.

Though, at this very date and time, much immediate focus, attention, and labor is placed on and given to the societal harms of homelessness, marginalization of numerous arbitrary classifications of various population segments of the human race in this nation of inception of the corporation (the United States of America) and its current place of tenancy (the planet Earth), an authoritative assertion of transparency and clarification must be herein stated:

All inhabitants of this geosphere and surrounding plains ad infimum are hereby implored to be mindful of and understand the fact that "Whatever the Fuck I feel like doing…" (the organization's purpose statement paraphrased) means in its most literal interpretation in the American English language, "Whatever the Fuck I feel like doing…," so if, and quite necessarily, any one issue comes to resolution, then I remain free as the idiomatic hell to divert time, attention, and resources of the Umbral Thread, and bindingly commit to whatever cause or self-determined mission I so choose. Or abstain from such. Regardless of the subject matter, once I have committed to it, it then becomes cause and purpose of myself as/is the organization and the religion thereof and legally bound by this framework.

Similarly, as is established governance, dogma, and doctrine in every capacity of the secular and ecclesiastical (unmistakably one and the same, unless it displeases or inconveniences myself) architecture of this framework, I do not, can not, and will not speak for others and they do not, can not, and will not speak for me. Hence, autonomy is just that: autonomous.
As bound by the governance of this organization when operating in a ministerial capacity on its behalf limits the action of all within it to actions conducive to the mission, by the nature of autonomy (one may choose by their own instruments how best they should propel the mission, be it or be it not conventional), this literal interpretation of cause and purpose that also extends to all of its subsidiaries, subsidiaries of subsidiaries, employees, volunteers, and so forth (refer back to The Lex Imperium if you have any questions).

Should this give pause to anyone, that is a good thing. What is good for the goose is good for the gander. I proclaim myself and definitively am the goose, whether you are amicable to this fact or not, so I suggest one choose their actions wisely. Especially in matters that involve me. Take great pause in consideration of how one may "harsh my vibe".

I am peaceful. Not harmless. Take all the time you need with that.

Signed with armament of truth,

Brandon Michael Jeanpierre
